ANTI-DOPING
AGENCY OF KENYA

Stay Clean, Win Right

“The Agency is the only organization permitted to carry out Anti-Doping activities in Kenya and its authority shall be recognized by all national federations in Kenya”

Who We Are

The Anti-Doping Agency of Kenya (ADAK) is a body corporate established under the Ant-Doping Act, 2016. The Agency is the only organization permitted to carry out Anti-Doping activities in Kenya and its authority shall be recognized by all national federations in Kenya.

VISION

A world class Anti-Doping Agency, protecting clean athletes and promoting fair play

MISSION

To lead a coordinated national anti-doping education and awareness campaign, testing and promotion of integrity for doping-free sport

CORE VALUES

- Equity and Equality
- Inclusiveness
- Integrity, Transparency and Accountability
- Impartiality

ADAK BACKGROUND

Kenya is a signatory to the 2005 UNESCO Convention against Doping in Sports. Article 5 of the Convention states that, "In abiding by the obligations contained in this convention, each State Party undertakes to adopt appropriate measures. Such measures may include legislation, regulation, policies or administrative practices".

In addition to the above, Article 22 of the World Anti-Doping Code 2015 further specifies that each Government will put in place measures to enhance cooperation and sharing of information and data with Anti-Doping Organizations as provided in the Code.

It is against this background that the Government of Kenya established the Anti-Doping Agency of Kenya (ADAK) vide Anti-Doping Act No. 5 of 2016 as a State Corporation.

In 2011, the Ministry of Sports together with the National Olympic Committee of Kenya (NOCK) formed what was called the Kenya Anti-Doping Agency (KADA). The establishment of KADA enabled Team Kenya to participate in the 2012 London Olympics. However, KADA lacked legal backing hence it was not sustainable. As a short-term measure, His Excellency the President established the Anti-Doping Agency of Kenya (ADAK) through an Executive Order of November 2015.

The Executive Order was followed by a Legal Notice No.256 of 24th December 2015. Even then all those measures did not meet World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA) requirement of establishing a National Anti-Doping Organization (NADO). Thus the Anti-Doping Agency of Kenya (ADAK) was legally established through an Act of Parliament after the enactment of the Anti-Doping Bill to an Anti-Doping Act, No.5 on 22nd April 2016.

Since its establishment ADAK has reached out to over 38,000 Kenyans through sensitization and awareness campaigns that were conducted during various activities. In addition, over 2,000 doping tests have been carried out among athletes from various sports disciplines and levels. The Agency has also trained adequate numbers of 20 Anti-Doping Educators, 17 Doping Control Officers and 35 Chaperones and 4 Phlebotomists who work on volunteer basis.

Chief Executive Officer

It is two years now since the Anti-Doping Agency of Kenya (ADAK) became fully operational. It has been a time of many learning experiences even as we worked to steady the ship.

During our formative stages, ADAK benefited immensely from the enormous goodwill from Kenya's political leadership, as well as, the Kenyan public at large. Sports, particularly athletics (track and field), remains a key activity in the country. It rallies communities together, breaks ethnic boundaries and brings out a great sense of patriotism in everyone. It is also one of the greatest, single contributors of marketing the 'Brand Kenya' for tourism and investment. Kenyans from all walks of life are willing to protect and ensure its integrity. It is on this premise that we continue to enjoy invaluable support from our stakeholders, supporters and collaborators.

The Agency also benefitted a lot from guidance and support from international partnerships. The World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA), Anti-Doping Norway (ADNO), United Kingdom Anti-Doping (UKAD), South African Institute for Drug-free Sports (SAIDS) and the Regional Anti-Doping Organization (RADO, Africa Zone V) have been on hand all along the way with support on best practices, capacity building and other related backing.

Internally, we continue to work with other government agencies and bodies whose processes impact directly and indirectly on the operational mandate of ADAK. These include, but are not limited to, the Directorate of Criminal Investigations (DCI) of the Kenya Police Service; particularly the Anti-Narcotics section, The Department of Immigration, The Kenya Medical Practitioners and Dentists Board (KMPDB), Kenya Pharmacy and Poisons Board (KPPB) and the National Registration Bureau among others. Operational documents and protocol have been, and continue to be, developed to protect information and materials shared with these bodies.

It has clearly been a busy year whose highlights included Kenya's preparation and successful hosting of the last edition of the World Under 18 Championships and the carrying out of mandatory tests for Team Kenya selected for the Commonwealth Games held in Australia in April this year. In all these, ADAK gave a good account of itself, even as it continues to enhance its capacity through competitive recruitment of Staff and training of the personnel to achieve the required level of competence.

Japhter K. Rugut, EBS

We are Looking Forward to Anti-Doping Education Curriculum in Schools.

ADAK is working towards ensuring schools embrace Anti-Doping education in their curricula as one of the strategies through which to combat cheating in sports at an early age. The Agency seeks to partner with relevant stakeholders with a view to exploring mechanisms through which this can be achieved.

Speaking during the launch of a partnership with the Kenya Institute of Curriculum Development (KICD), Chief Executive Officer Japhter Rugut observed that one of the most effective ways through which to combat the menace is by including Anti-Doping education into schools curricula to enlighten future athletes at a tender age.

“Anti-Doping education to top and elite athletes deals with only one part of the strategies geared towards the fight against doping in sport; deterrence. On the other hand Values-Based education deals with the problem from its genesis through prevention which leads to culture or mindset change. We have decided to broaden our focus and instill positive values in children so that as they engage in competitive sports, the values associated with winning clean and right are inherent in them. In this regard we have partnered with the Ministry of Education through the Kenya institute of Curriculum Development where we are working together to develop content that will form the basis of Anti-Doping education in schools curricula,” observed Rugut.

The Anti-Doping Agency of Kenya’s objective is to have values-based Anti-Doping education integrated into schools curricula which is a key strategy in introducing ethical behavior in sports at an early age.

The move is in line with a requirement by the World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA) where countries with National Anti-Doping Organizations (NADOs) are required to impart values in learners as a way of curbing cheating in sports.

Similarly, African States during the first African Anti-Doping Think-Tank Forum organized by the African Union Commission (AUC) held in Seychelles in August last year resolved to expedite this process by bringing together relevant stakeholders. The forum agreed that the resolution would be tabled in the meeting of African Ministers of Sports Youth and Culture scheduled to be held in September 2017. In the meeting ADAK CEO Japhter Rugut also implored on African countries to allocate more resources to Anti-Doping activities.

UKAD Trains ADAK Doping Control Officers (DCOs)

ADAK's Doping Control Officers and Chaperones underwent a week-long training conducted by UK Anti-Doping (UKAD) from 12th to 15th June, 2018. UKAD deployed its Medical Programme Officer, a Senior Testing Officer and three Doping Control Officers for the exercise.

Also trained was the Agency's Therapeutic Use Exemption Committee (TUEC) who benefitted from the exposure to experiences shared by the team from UKAD.

The training marked a six-month partnership between the two National Anti-Doping Organizations (NADOs), and it will see UKAD provide advice, guidance and training to their Kenyan counterparts at different points throughout the year.

ADAK Chief Executive, Japhther Rugut, said: "The Agency will benefit a great deal from the partnership with UKAD, which will be actualized through the training targeting our Doping Control Officers (DCOs) and Members of the Therapeutic Use Exemption Committee (TUEC).

"This training will go a long way in enhancing the capacity of our personnel as they continue discharging their duties in line with our strategic mandate and the requirements of the World Anti-Doping Code.

"The partnership with UKAD is clear testament that we are committed to ensuring that our processes are in line with the world's best practice, besides also exposing our DCOs and the TUEC to experiences from our partners. Their technical competencies will receive a great boost from the information that will be shared during this exercise.

"As we look forward to it, we would like to thank UKAD for their willingness to support us and reiterate our commitment to the promotion of clean sport in Kenya."

UKAD Chief Executive, Nicole Sapstead, added: "We are pleased to be teaming up with the Anti-Doping Agency of Kenya, as UKAD's international programme continues to expand.

"International partnerships such as these enable strong links and relationships to be fostered between NADOs, helping to deliver effective and targeted programmes focused on catching the dopers wherever they may be and protecting British athletes' right to clean, fair and honest sport.

"It's fantastic to be able to share the expertise and knowledge of our staff, particularly with a country which experiences such a high risk to doping in sport."
